

A POWER IN ENERGY EFFICIENCY.

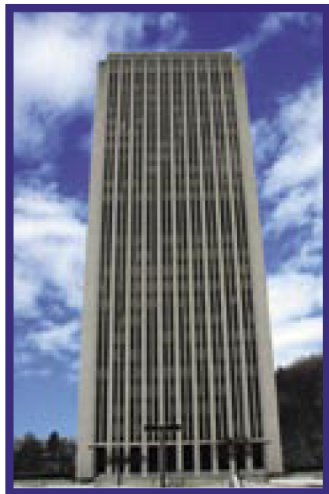

Energy Savings Performance Contracting

Do you own or manage a building and face problems such as:

- Old, outdated equipment
- Recurring equipment problems and high maintenance costs
- Poor working environment and comfort complaints
- Scarce budget resources
- Too little staff and energy management expertise

If so, here's good news...

Energy Savings Performance Contracting is an affordable way to make investments in new, much needed, energy-efficient equipment. You can make the upgrades you need now, with little or no up-front capital, and pay for the improvements through the resulting energy savings. You benefit immediately by getting new equipment expertise from energy service professionals and the ability to accomplish many projects at once. Best of all, these savings can be guaranteed.

If the energy savings do not materialize, Earthwell pays the difference for the energy savings shortfall, not you!

You get the improvements and a better building without the sacrifice!

Many types of facilities have successfully benefitted from energy saving performance contracting, including hospitals, universities, multi-family housing, community colleges, school districts, local and state governments, factories and office buildings.
